How do I read this diagram?

To read the diagram, add "Energy" after the title of each section, ie Electric Energy, Magnetic Energy, Pyramid Energy, etc... The chronology goes counterclockwise, starting from 12:00 noon. The first quarter is the evolution of lifeforms from stardust to silicon, biological to mechanical, ending with the higher stages of civilization known as the Kardashev scale. This part of the diagram is from a galactic perspective, and non-Earth specific, representing any theoretical planet. ET contact is taken into account as an integral part of evolution, as well as "resets" of technology, or cataclysms. On the southern hemisphere are the alchemical energy types correlated to the 4 elements, earth air (wind) fire water. The last quarter of the circle covers the most advanced known subatomic and extra dimensional types of energy. It is important to note that even our most basic means of generating electricity represent not just one type of energy, but a sequence of energy transfers between different energy types, that result in a controllable current. The goal of the Energy Map is to integrate the understanding of conventional types of energy with more obscure types of energy, and types considered exotic by conventional science.

This is intended to provoke those who may already have some understanding of modern electronics to innovate further, and create new devices that may be of benefit to humanity, and the galaxy.

01N+. What is energy? The further down this Rabbit Hole we go, the more unreal things will become. Learn the Comms. This battle we are in is much bigger than most people can imagine. If we would only wake up, then we would be fully and completely liberated from a lot of the evils that were plaguing us. We are a lot further along, and more powerful than we have been allowed to believe. Through bureaucracies of government and private corporations, advanced technologies have been kept hidden from humanity, and locked away in black budget "special access projects." Anti-gravity, free electricity, and cures for every disease known to man are just around the corner. Fortunately, this technological blockade is starting to show signs of cracking. There are multiple other worlds with humans in various stages of development. There are other entities living inside of our planet. There are a lot of things that we are going to have to wake up to, and accept fairly soon. There are already ET's living among us, and they've been here for years. They mostly look like we do. Everything is about to change. Some individuals are better prepared to assimilate the coming changes than others. The ones who are able to ride the wave of the Great Awakening, are doing our best to prepare everyone for these coming changes. We have friends from other worlds who are anxious to introduce themselves to us. I hope you are ready to accept this when it happens, because I'm afraid that the knowledge of such things is going to drive some people mad. You don't have to accept this now. Just don't take for granted what I'm saying, because we don't want you to be startled when more truth comes to light. Things are going to move really fast over the next 10 years. Within that short span of time, the progress we could witness will be close to, or beyond, what we've seen in Star Trek. We already have spacecraft that are faster than light speed. We have stargates. We are trading our technology with races from other worlds already. All of this was hidden from us by the Deep State, and the Illuminati. I'm sorry that it has to be revealed to us in this manner, but they didn't want us to know, and were planning on killing us all. Don't worry about that now. We are safe and protected, and Earth is about to become a paradise planet. We need to pull it together, because we will be needed to help end poverty and hunger on this planet very soon. Please have courage and trust that things were meant to be this way. Don't lose faith. We are a very blessed race of people, and you will know this soon. Earth will soon become fully a part of a Galactic Alliance of Worlds. Truth will prevail over this evil we now face. 02N(-). THE FUNDAMENTAL FORCE OF THE UNIVERSE, SECRETS OF TESLA, THE ANCIENTS, AND THE OCCULT: As illustrated on the primary nodal labels of this diagram, Tesla's Dynamic Theory of Gravity proposed that gravity and electromagnetism were both two names for the same etheric material. Electricity or Photon energy would be what we call it as it is propelled outward, and Gravity or Magnetism would be what we call it as it implodes inward. As an entirety the phenomenon can be known as Electromagnetic Radiation. You see, magnetism is the perpendicular force to electricity. When a magnetic field passes sideways, electrons are propelled upwards, if that is, you have metal coils going in the proper direction. It operates like two gears at a 90° angle to each other. This fundamental function is the basis for the Sumerian Solar Cross, all Sun-God religions, and Christianity as well, demonstrated best by the bilaterally symmetrical Templar's cross. What happens next is the formation of vortices. Magnetic fields are more complex than most diagrams and demonstrations reveal. As magnetic lines bend, they form into Fibonacci spirals along the way at intervals that relate to the sacred geometry of the Universe. These macro and microscopic energy "ley lines" are what give all life it's fractal form. The quantum vortex. True understanding of the fundamental forces of nature has been integrated into the symbolism of all secret societies, who have preferred to use their advantageous knowledge to enrich themselves, and maintain the primitive form of energy, human slave energy, for sick, sadistic pleasure. The understanding of the energy principles is integrated into their symbolic artwork and architecture. The most important outwardly displayed feature of every Masonic temple is the Twin Pillars. Think of these as the plugs of a powercord, pushed through from the underside of the earth. They are drawing in etheric power. The masonry itself acts as a megalithic form of circuitry. All the ancient builders understood this, and drew energy into the structures they built in multiple ways that would be considered "exotic" by today's standards, of treating energy as the proprietary commodity of utility monopolies that trace their origins to robber barons, venture capitalists, and ET species more advanced than ours. The more advanced subatomic energies are as well many names for the same fundamental substance, just viewed from many different perspectives and experienced in different ways. Tachyons, Scalar Waves, and Neutrinos are all said to zip through the universe without interacting with ordinary matter. The point of "vacuum" is, there is no vacuum. Whereas scientists in the past would call space "vacuum", now space is understood to be quite filled with quantum mechanics. There are actual life forms on other scales and densities as well, as demonstrated best by the unilateral witnessing of "Machine Elves" in altered states of consciousness.

Technologies can bridge these dimensions and transfer energy from one to another. Once you master the art of trapping a wormhole in a cage (cage tunneling) you can draw any type of energy from anywhere of your choosing. Our understanding has been so limited by the textbooks, and convention, and social ridicule for daring to think outside the box. - Dylan Louis Monroe, A.145.

03S+. BIOENERGY, BIOFIELDS, AND THE ELECTRIC BODY: What makes a worm wiggle? What makes hummingbirds float, and bees build ornate hexagonal fortresses bearing honey that cures almost any disease and never rots. Life and "inanimate" are not as different as most people believe. It has become more accepted that our planet itself has a life-force energy that is more complex than just rock and molten lava. Gaia is a living breathing entity like the rest of us, as is every crystal, every mountain, every cloud... every galaxy. Modern humans simply fail to recognize their forms. This was not always the case. Native cultures honored the Earth and all life and recognized sentience in a much wider variety of forms. All forms are made of and share the same energy. Our scientists decision to label only DNA and cells as "Life" has resulted in much confusion. Of course this outlook fits in comfortably with religious notions of man's superiority, and adherence to the hierarchical command chains that they endeavor to stay atop of. The human Biofield opens up a whole new realm of possibilities in terms of healing, exploration, and self understanding. The chakra system, known by ancient cultures but ignored by institutionalized science today, represents the energy vortices of the human form. As the heart is the central magnetic motor of the biofield, the magnetic currents, passing through the vertical axis of the body, spiral as they travel in these specific locations we have come to call chakras. As those same currents pass up through the crown, they emanate in the space around the body creating the "aura." To see the biofield drawn as geometric lines, it closely resembles the same toroidal form of the magnetosphere of the planet. Similarly to how our planet's magnetosphere is constantly pushing against the solar wind, the biofield is influenced by external fields it comes into contact with as well, be that digital electronics, or other human biofields. You know how some people can give off a bad vibe? It's not just the noises coming out of their mouth! On the other hand, a person with strongly positive energy could quickly energize everyone in the same room, be the center of attention, be the object of worship. Our veins are not made of copper, but instead fluid mechanics that regulate the system of energy exchange. Consider yourself a highly complex liquid-quantum computer. And don't forget you have a built in transceiver that gives you telepathic abilities! Fire it up, and tap into the deeper levels of the Universe. - Dylan Louis Monroe, A.145, log: 111919 ORTI-B c.V - FQ 1. P.J. 01202017

04S(-). THE WARDENCLIFFE EXPERIMENT & ATMOSPHERIC ENERGY REPRESSION: Oh, woe is Tesla, and his great tower that never saw the light of day... or did it? The experiment known as Wardencliff is not the most important instance in the history of energy technology, but it is a perfect demonstration of a repressed technology that has existed since the days of the Ancients, and continues to be covertly utilized to the present. As a subject, "atmospheric energy" has not been a hot-button topic in Wired, or Scientific American, or Popular Mechanics since time can remember. Why do cities build 2000 foot tall "observation towers" with elaborate antennas no common man can identify, but assumes they must be used to make his TV flicker, or his radio spit out political dross. Who built these structures? Who operates them? How many corporate presidents whose offices sit at the top of a major metropolitan tower do you know? These men exist in a world where millions of dollars can pop out of nowhere, the black magic known as "stock exchange." What if they lived in a world where a million volts could pop out of nowhere as well? "Whomsoever builds the highest tower steals the power of the Gods." ¹ Did you know the exterior of the Wardencliff tower was never completed? Any photo you'll find of it will only show its steel exoskeleton. The finished building would have looked funnily familiar, like the Epcot Center stuck on top of a lighthouse. It would have looked strikingly similar to St. Basel's Cathedral. Maybe if Mr. Morgan would have continued funding Tesla, instead of cutting him off and demolishing his project, Wardencliff could have one day been painted in the brilliant colors that are passed off as religious decoration on the prize jewel of Moscow. One day people will know what ALL these towers are really doing, and we will say, "We told you so." In the diagram to the left, you will find some of the most blatant examples of this energy technology in use. However, like the energy itself, this technology is everywhere! Just go downtown and start counting off the pyramids. Unlike Tesla, their aim is not to project the energy they capture for the enjoyment of all, but to keep it exclusively for themselves and their brothers. - A.145, log: 111919 ORTI-B c.V - FQ 1.
